Privacy Policy

The website undertakes to ensure that the collection and processing of User data is carried out in a lawful, fair and transparent manner, in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR no. 2016-679) and the French Data Protection Act of 6 January 1978.

The collection of personal data is limited to what is strictly necessary, in accordance with the principle of data minimisation, and indicates the purposes for which the data are collected, whether the provision of such data is optional or obligatory in order to manage requests, and who will be able to access them.

Data Protection Officer: Mr Christophe GRASSER – 6 rue Marcel LALLOUETTE 44700 Orvault France or by email contact@naotic.fr

Nature of the Data Collected

As part of the use of the Websites, the Publisher may collect the following categories of data concerning Users:

- Identity data: surname, first name, email, telephone number and address.
- Connection data (IP addresses, event logs, etc.)

Purpose of the Data Collected

As soon as a User subscribes to our mailing list, we may send him/her emails with or without our commercial offers.

In our mailings, we make our identity clear in the subject line or the name of the sender of the message so that our communications can be identified.

At the bottom of the message, the User will also find the option, by a simple click, to exercise his/her right to oppose the sending of any new message.

Right of access, rectification and opposition

In accordance with the European regulations in force, Users of www.naotic.fr have the following rights:

- Right of access (Article 15 GDPR), rectification (Article 16 GDPR), updating, and completeness of their data.
- Right to block or erase their data (Article 17 GDPR) if such data is inaccurate, incomplete, ambiguous, outdated, or the collection, use, communication or storage of which is prohibited.
- Right to withdraw consent at any time (Article 13-2c GDPR).
- Right to limit the processing of their data (Article 18 GDPR).
- Right to oppose the processing of their data (Article 21 GDPR).
- Right to the portability of the data they have provided to us, when their data is subject to automated processing based on their consent or on a contract (Article 20 GDPR).
- Right to define the fate of their data after their death and to choose whether the website communicates (or does not communicate) their data to a third party that they have previously designated.

For any question relating to the management and use made of their personal data, Users can contact Naotic either via the website's contact form or by email at contact@naotic.fr.

Finally, Users can also lodge a complaint with the supervisory authorities and in particular the CNIL.

Social Networks

Users have the possibility of clicking on the icons dedicated to the social networks Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn and YouTube appearing on the site.

When they use these buttons, we may have access to the personal information that they have indicated as public and accessible from their profiles. However, Naotic does not create or use any database independent of Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn and YouTube from the personal information they may publish there and we do not use any data relating to their private life through this. .

If they do not want us to have access to personal information published in the public area of their profiles or social accounts, then they must use the means made available to them by Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn and YouTube to limit access to their data.

Communication of personal data to Third Parties

Communication to the authorities on the basis of legal obligations

On the basis of legal obligations, the personal data of Users may be disclosed pursuant to a law, a regulation or pursuant to a decision of a competent regulatory or judicial authority. In general, we undertake to comply with all legal rules that may prevent, limit or regulate the dissemination of information or data and, in particular, to comply with Law No. 78-17 of 6 January 1978 on information technology, files and freedoms.

Communication to third parties with restrictions linked to recipients

Naotic does not communicate personal data to any third party.
